Here and There

Editorial By ALEX. H. WASHBURN

THE Saturday Evening Post, a bitter and relentless critic of the national administration's cotton control program, has just completed publication of a series of articles telling about the phenomenal increase in cotton production in Brazil. The purport of these articles was to make the American cotton farmer very unhappy, pointing out that by the time he had jacked up the price to a "living wage" Brazil would have stolen all his foreign markets. I turned today to another publication, to an article written by an equally eminent authority—Edward Tomlinson, in the Country Home.

Ethiopian Crisis Encourages Hitler in Colonial Dream

Germany Elated as League Partly Admits Italy's Claims

"EXPANSION ROOM"

Nazis Revealed as Plotting to Recover Lost Colonies in Africa

LONDON.—(AP)—Germany, in defiance of treaties, has rebuilt her war machine, her eyes turned covetously to the rich African territories taken from her as a part of the price of defeat in the World War.

Her Reichsfuehrer, Adolf Hitler, is probably the only head of a European state who is getting a good laugh out of the Italian-Ethiopian imbroglio. No matter what happens, it's "heads-I-win, tails-I-win" for Hitler.

For every word spoken in favor of the Italian thesis for colonial expansion and accepted as equally a word for Germany. And from that fact, Germany draws deep satisfaction although she has seen the League Council make the ominous decision to proceed under Article XV of the League covenant opening the path to international economic or military measures against Italy if she goes to war with Ethiopia.

Germany's silence in the crisis has been eloquent. She has watched with elation as Italy has forced England and France to recognize that, confined to a small peninsula, with few mineral resources and a teeming population, Italy must have colonies both for raw materials and for room in which her people can settle.

Germany's lost colonies in Africa and countries to which they were awarded after the World War.

The Reich, too, has a very large population settled upon a comparatively small territory. Italy's hunger for colonies is excited by that of Germany only.

For a long time the soft pedal was put on Germany's colonial ambitions.

600 Passengers Aboard—Florida Relieved as Hurricane Misses Coast

MIAMI, Fla.—(AP)—A tropical disturbance which struck Cuba and Jamaica and threatened the Florida coast over the week-end, was 660 miles east of Savannah, Ga., Monday, and is expected to pass northwest of Bermuda during the afternoon.

After missing the Florida coast Saturday night the storm curved toward the Bahamas.

An aerial survey of that section Monday showed no lives lost but there was a great deal of property damage.

NEW YORK.—(AP)—The Holland-American liner Rotterdam, carrying 600 passengers on a West Indian cruise in the wake of the week-end's destructive hurricane, struck a reef and went aground Monday 60 miles southeast of Kingston, Jamaica.

"Everybody well and quiet—no danger," said a wireless message to the Associated Press from Captain Van Duiken, commander of the 21,000-ton vessel.

Bimini Isle in Danger
MIAMI, Fla.—(AP)—Escaping the fury of a Caribbean hurricane that brought death and destruction in Cuba and Jamaica, residents of the Florida east coast Sunday night feared for tiny Bimini island.

No word had been received from Bimini, an oasis for Americans during the prohibition era since the tropical storm struck near there Saturday night. Bimini is a British possession. The provincial government at Nassau arranged for Pan-American Airways to have its regular Miami-Nassau plane make observations at Bimini Monday.

The colonial government ordered an amphibious plane dispatched from Miami by Pan-American early Monday, with its pilot instructed to place himself at the disposal of the British commissioner there. Using the plane's radio, the commissioner can inform the government of the situation and order necessary supplies and quantities of which could be brought by the special and regular planes in advance of boat shipments.

Listen for Radio Signals
The government radio station at Nassau kept operators constantly listening for the Bimini operator. Occasionally in the past, antennas at the listening stations have been taken down as a precaution with the advance of tropical storms.

With high winds continuing through at least part of the day, it was possible the operator had not been able to hoist his wires and resume sending. The last sending Saturday night was at the usual "sign-off" time, 8 p. m. The island has 610 residents. It is a strip of coral sand some 45 miles east of Miami. Inhabitants mostly engaged in fishing.

Misses Florida
Breathing freely again as they emerged from safe places sought when the hurricane warnings were hoisted for 17 hours from Key West to West Palm Beach, Florida east coast residents enjoyed a pleasant Sunday.

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia.—(AP)—Ethiopia can muster 2,000,000 marching men if forced to fight Italy, one of Emperor Haile Selassie's principal counselors said Sunday night.

This spokesman's promise of "crushing surprises" for the men of Mussolini came on the heels of the emperor's warning to the League of Nations that national preservation may soon force him to mobilize all available manpower. The emperor's patience in withholding a general mobilization, his attitude was said.

Italy's Answer to 7 Burn to Death; Selassie Is Troops Storekeeper Held

12,000 More Italians Set 3 Children Among the Dead—9 Other Persons Injured in Explosion

By the Associated Press
In the face of Emperor Selassie's renewed readiness to put 2 million men in the field for Ethiopia, Premier Mussolini Monday dispatched 12,000 more troops to augment the Italian army in East Africa.

Emperor Selassie awaited final word from his delegation in Geneva before going ahead with his mobilization plans. Meanwhile, the French and British governments were in close consultation as to what the League of Nations would do to prevent hostilities.

England Backs France
LONDON, Eng.—(AP)—Great Britain gave France official assurance Sunday night that she stands "for steady and collective resistance to all acts of unprovoked aggression," whether in Africa or in Europe.

In a note published over the signature of Sir Samuel Hoare, British foreign secretary, the government said that "to suggest or insinuate" that British policy "was for some reason peculiar to the Italian-Ethiopian conflict would be a complete misunderstanding."

That answered French charge that Germany hoped to seize the strategic Memel territory from Lithuania—charges inspired by Adolf Hitler's bitter speech to his Nazi Reichstag. In fact, the British government chose to clarify formally its attitude on the question of involving League of Nations sanctions to preserve peace anywhere.

"Negative Acts" Don't Count
The government, possibly envisaging such a development as the voluntary surrender of Memel or the population of Austria to German rule in defiance of League pact war treaties, made one important qualification. "It is evident," said the note, "that procedure under Article 16 of the covenant, appropriate as regards a positive act of unprovoked aggression, is not made applicable as regards a negative act of failure to fulfill its terms of a treaty."

Business Upturn in 8th District Becomes Stronger

Retail Sales During August 14% Better Than August a Year Ago

CONSTRUCTION GAIN

August Building Permits Up 126% Over the Same Month in 1934

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—(AP)—Business in the eighth federal reserve district, on the up-grade for three months, developed increased activity during August and the first half of September, the federal reserve bank here reported Monday.

Expected seasonal improvement began earlier and was more pronounced in business as a whole than has been the case in any recent year, the bank report said. "The betterment extended to sentiment as well as to concrete development."

Buy Increases
Buying, both wholesale and retail, was on the increase and "embraced a broader variety of high grade goods," in town and country alike. The report said favorable crop conditions and relative high prices for farm products caused the spurt in rural sections. Increased industrial activity was responsible in the cities.

August wholesale turnovers were slightly lower than a year ago, but, gauged by sales of department stores in the district, the volume of retail trade was 16.2 per cent ahead of July and 1.4 per cent more than August a year ago.

Department stores sales in principal cities:

City	August, 1935 compared to July, 1935	August, 1935 compared to August, 1934
El Dorado, Ark.	-1.4%	x6.5%
Evansville, Ind.	-0.3	-1.9
Fl. Smith, Ark.	x3.4	x1.6
Little Rock, Ark.	x10.8	x11.9
Louisville, Ky.	x6.6	x0.9
Memphis, Tenn.	x8.7	x0.8
St. Louis, Mo.	x21.4	x0.1
Springfield, Mo.	x8.6	x2.3
All other cities	x13.6	x2.8
Eighth federal reserve district	x16.2	x1.4

The value of permits issued for new construction in the five largest cities in August was 41 per cent ahead of a month ago and 126 per cent greater than a year ago. Cumulative total for the first eight months showed an increase of 78 per cent over a like period in 1934.

Freight Shows Gain
The band said railroads reported freight traffic during August was slightly greater than in that month a year ago and was slightly better than July of this year. Livestock movement continued smaller when compared with last year and 1933.

Collections generally throughout the district during the period remained about even with the rest of the year, although some regularity was noted by the bank. Payment to retail merchants and banks in the winter wheat sections "have picked up in noticeable degree since marketing of the crop began."

In the larger distributing centers wholesaling and jobbing interests reported prompt collections. "August collections of the department stores in the principal cities showed about the usual seasonal improvement," the bank report added.

Memel Voting Is Extended One Day

Given Through Monday to Decide for Lithuania or Germany

MEMEL.—(AP)—Voters here held 76 polling stations in this tiny but coveted Baltic territory in such confusion Sunday that authorities gave the electorate another day to register its choice between German and Lithuanian candidates for the Diet.

Long delays in the voting, which some Lithuanian voters charged were due to the part of German-Memelians, brought about the decision.

Many minor disorders between Germans and Lithuanians and one serious clash at Juknaičiai in the district of Heykisch marked the international election. At Juknaičiai the Lithuanian and members of the Lithuanian commission were beaten and two Lithuanians injured. Lithuanian police reported the incident.

Glenn Burns Taken With Liquor Haul

Alleged "Bootleg King" Arrested After Chase and Burst of Gunfire

Glenn Burns, described by officers as the "king of Hempstead county bootleggers," was arrested Saturday night with five gallons of moonshine after a mad automobile race that was climaxed with a blaze of gunfire.

Burns was lodged in jail, but made bond Sunday for his appearance before Municipal Judge W. K. Lemley October 4.

Officers were elated over their "catch." It marked the first time the elusive Burns has been taken with liquor in his possession. Several times he has slipped out of carefully-laid traps.

Several months ago an automobile driver described by officers as Burns escaped in a hail of gunfire aimed at the tires of his racing automobile.

Saturday night Burns was "jumped" when his automobile emerged from a side road onto the Lewisville highway. Officers approached from behind, recognized Burns, and the race started.

At the two cars came upon the pavement on South Main they were running at high speed. The chase led onto South Elm and then across to South Main, thence south onto the Lewisville road again. About 100 yards south of the new high school building officers opened fire when Burns defied their commands to halt.

Three bullets pierced the rear end of the car. Several quarts of liquor in jars were pitched out and then the five-gallon keg rolled out as Burns decided to give up. One bullet had punctured a tire.

Riding with Burns was Thomas Burns, a nephew. The latter was not arrested.

Officers in the chase were, Deputy Sheriff Reginald Bearden, R. C. Robins and Bob Patterson. They had been to near Lewisville on another call and were en route home when they saw Burns drive onto the highway from a side road.

No one was injured by bullets from the officers' guns.

PWA Gives State 6 Millions More

54 Contract Jobs Awarded Arkansas—Direct Grants of 45% of Cost

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—The Public Works Administration (PWA) announced Monday President Roosevelt's approval of additional funding $5,992,984 for 54 PWA projects in Arkansas, having a total construction cost of $6,978,002.

Grants totaling $2,731,201 were made to cover 44 per cent of the cost of all projects.

Loans totaling $3,246,787 were made on 10 projects from the PWA revolving fund.

The allotments are subject to the approval of the comptroller general.

Stockman Dies of Fractured Skull—Sustained in a Fight or Fall

GRAND JURY ACTION

Inquest Abandoned on News Prosecutor Will Take Up Case Next Week

Coroner J. H. Weaver announced Monday afternoon that the death of Roy Collins, Hempstead county farmer and stockman, would be investigated next week by the Hempstead county grand jury.

Collins, 40, died in Julia Chester hospital Sunday night. Physicians said that he had a fractured right skull. He had been unconscious several hours before his death, and made no statement to officials.

Reports were conflicting as to how he received the fractured skull. One report said that Collins engaged in a fight. A second report was that he fell from a truck to the concrete pavement on Highway 67 west of Hope.

An inquest scheduled for 2 p. m. Monday was cancelled by Coroner J. H. Weaver upon advice from Prosecuting Attorney Ned Stewart who desires to bring the case before the grand jury next week.

Collins lived near Spring Hill, south of Hope. Funeral services were to be held at 3:30 p. m. Monday from the First Methodist church there. The Rev. Wallace R. Rogers of Hope, was to conduct the services. Burial will be at Anderson cemetery, south of Spring Hill.

Collins is survived by his widow, four daughters and two sons, five brothers, J. C. Collins of Kilgore, Texas; L. C. Collins, Houston, Texas; J. C. Collins, Gregtown, Texas; B. I. Collins, of Dixon, Texas; and G. O. Collins of Hobbs, New Mexico.

Two sisters, Mrs. F. F. Turner of Spring Hill, and Mrs. J. W. Battle of Kilgore, Texas.

The auxiliary of the Boys band announced that a cake walk would be staged Tuesday night, October 8, to raise additional funds. The cake walk will be staged on a downtown street. Complete plans will be announced within the next few days.

Thursday afternoon the Hope Storks and the Hope Basket company basketball teams will meet at Fair Park in a resumption of a series to determine the city championship. Proceeds will be donated to the band uniform fund.

Erosion Control Seed Distributed

Distribution Begun Monday From Warehouse in East Second Street

Seed for cover crops which play an important part in the federal government's soil erosion control program in this area was offered local farmers Monday at the San Fusion Service warehouse in the East Second street building just east of Cole's ice cream store.

Farmers are asked to get this seed immediately. The government will carry an average stock of six carloads of seed in connection with the soil erosion control program here, according to H. R. Thatcher, service executive.

Urges Check Upon Insurance Agents

Gentry Cautions Buyers to Demand Proof That Company Is Licensed

LITTLE ROCK—More than 100 insurance companies organized in other states are doing business in Arkansas without having obtained a permit from the Insurance Department of this state, Insurance Commissioner U.
A. Gentry said over the week-end.
Mr. Gentry said most of the companies specialize in selling worthless or fraudulent insurance policies by mail, but that some of them send agents and salesmen into the state to make whirlwind campaigns. These agents do not apply to the Insurance Department for a license, but often use fictitious names or a series of such names when operating in different sections of the state, Mr. Gentry said.
He estimated that Arkansas citizens are bilked out of hundreds of thousands of dollars annually through shady insurance deals. He said the department cannot prevent them from operating in the state by mail and that it has difficulty checking the activities of unlicensed agents because they usually have left the state before complaints reach the department.
Mr. Gentry said he recommended at the national convention of insurance commissioners in Florida last winter that an effort be made to obtain passage of a federal law to bar use of the mail to insurance companies that do not comply with the laws of the states in which they do business. Such a bill was introduced, but met with much opposition and never was reported out of committee, he said.
The insurance commissioner said the only safeguard prospective purchasers of insurance have is to demand proof from insurance salesmen that their company is licensed to operate in Arkansas and that the salesman is a licensed agent.

World Series

always come off second best, including last year when it bowed to the St. Louis Cardinals. The Cubs have won two. And who did they win from?
Why, they won both from the Tigers.
They fact that the Cubs' streak was ended when they blew their game to the Cardinals Saturday means about as much as Joe Louis' Saturday night knockout of Max Baer means about as much as the Cardinals' Saturday night victory over the Cubs. They had no reason to be down.
Their energy was to be saved for the Tigers. In fact, Charlie Grimm had sent Lon Warneke, Lee and a couple of his other stars back home to rest
up. "Go to bed and get as much sleep as you can stand," he said.
Why, therefore, the odds on Detroit?
The Cubs are a younger peoplier team, man for man, and they've got in the habit of winning. One of the big reasons for handing the Tigers an edge seems to be that they clinched their league title long ago and have had all this time to relax and think up nasty tricks to perpetrate on whatever opponent they face.
Whether this line of reasoning is sound or not is a par with the argument that because Max Baer was desperate he would sail into Louis and annihilate him (this correspondent knows not).

No New Federal

ness had fortified the government's financial position.
The executive saw the curves of tax collections and expenditures swinging toward a meeting point. He predicted a big cut in the deficit originally estimated for the current fiscal year of 1936 and another for the next financial 12-months. But no date was set for a balanced budget.
The nation's tax structure, Mr.
Roosevelt said, was "stronger than ever before" the return of normal business will produce revenues sufficient for all purposes, the prevailing rate of recovery forecasts a speedy drop in emergency spending, and the 1937 budget is being prepared with a view to "sharply decreasing the spread between income and outgo."
"This, it is clear to me," the president concluded, "that the federal government, under provisions of present tax schedules, will not need new taxes to meet the expense of its necessary annual operations and to retire public debt."
He conditioned this statement, however, upon the continued collection of processing taxes upon farm products, constitutability of which is now being tested in the courts. Unless it is sustained, he said, "we will have to face the problem of financing existing contracts for benefit payments out of some form of new taxes."
The president's assertions were confirmed in a statement accompanying a revision of the budget for the current fiscal year ending June 30. He forecast a deficit of $2,281,000,000 as compared with his January estimate of $4,328,000,000, an actual excess of expenditures of $2,575,000,000 in the financial year which ended three months ago and a 1935 deficit of $2,- 989,000,000.

HOLLYWOOD GOSSIP

—BY DAN THOMAS—

Too Much Hollywood, Is Cry Against Films

OLLYWOOD — "When are those movie fellows going to learn something about the United States?"
A newspaper editor asked me that question a few days ago while I was vacationing in the northwest.
"Judging from the picture we see,
studio executives never leave Hollywood," he declared. "If they did, we wouldn't be handed so many pictures of the same kind. They'd learn plenty about the kind of films people want to see. And I'll bet we would get a lot more good pictures."
For years that has been a common complaint against Hollywood's movie moguls. They spend nine or ten months a year in the film capital. And when they do get away, they head straight for New York or Europe.
Many of them know more about Europe than they do about America.
In fact, most of them know very little about this country except that it takes 15 hours to fly from Hollywood to Manhattan.
Still they claim to cater to public tastes. "We make the kind of pictures the public wants," has been their constant cry.

Battling for Talent

With the way studios now are getting names on the dotted line, it looks as if Hollywood may soon be in for a real talent war. M-G-M and Paramount head the list in this field of activity so far. The former now has 94 players under contract and the latter 88.

self.

War Over Ethiopia

Locks as if Twentieth Century-Fox will be the first studio to cash in on the current interest in Ethiopia. With all studios scrambling for some sort of vehicle that can be had in the African country, Darryl Zanuck has dug up "The Queen of Sheba," supposedly laid in Ethiopia, and is having it revamped for immediate production.
The story has been produced twice

Sorry

And now it turns out that Adrienne Ames and Bruce Cabot aren't nearly as mad at each other as they thought they were. In fact, they probably will be back together again, long before it's time for Adrienne to get her final divorce.

They either set or phone each other every evening now

Best of Friends

A divorce apparently was just what the doctor ordered for whatever addicted Bruce Cabot and Adrienne Ames.
They're even together more now than when they were married.

Old Regulars to Aid Long Faction

New Orleans Promised Restoration of Home Rule After January

NEW ORLEANS, La.—(P)—Promised that soon after next January's primary, a special session of the legislature will repeal some of the more obnoxious of Huey Long's dictatorship laws, the Old Regular political machine of New Orleans agreed over the week-end to support the Allen-Long ticket in the primary.

The Old Regular machine, which was smashed by Long because of his hatred for Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley, had demanded immediate repeal of the laws that had placed the city of New Orleans at Long's mercy as the price of their support. However, they were told by Robert Maestri, state commissioner of conservation, that there could be no special session of the legislature until after the primary.
They finally capitulated.

Maestri, who has become one of the leaders of the Long machine, since the senator's death, is a member of the State Police Board and has great power over the New Orleans Police Department, now that Long is dead.
The Old Regulars adopted resolutions endorsing the Allen administration ticket headed by Judge Richard W. Leche, former governor; Earl K. Long, brother of the late senator, for lieutenant governor and Allen J. Ellender, speaker of the house, for United States senator to succeed Long.

John Ridgill when he investigated complaints of the deputy sheriff who had kept the serial number of the bill.

The serial number given to Chief Ridgill by the Oklahoma sleuth talkined with the bill found in the Wall's woman's possession. From the witnesses stand she contended she got possession of the bill in making change.

Judge W. K. Lemley acquitted her.
Four defendants pleaded guilty to drunkenness. Each was fined $10.
They are: Dalton Jones, Jack Jones.

Home Clubs

Ozan-St. Paul
The Ozan-St. Paul Home Demonstration club held its regular meeting on Friday, September 20, at the home of Mrs. Floyd Matthews. There were 27 members and four visitors present.

Most of the business meeting was devoted to discussions on the community fair which will be held at Ozan, Saturday, October 17. Mrs. W.
J. Gist is chairman of the fair committee. If we will all help and do our best, our fair will be a success.
If we lag the fair will lag, too. So let's all be workers, and not shirkers.

Reports were given from the following leaders: Food preservation, food management, clothing, gardening, home management, art craft, poultry.

We were very fortunate in having W. G. Amstein with us. He gave a very interesting talk on yard improvement. He told about the four principles that constitute a good lawn.
How to have a beautiful lawn all the year, with very little expense. He also told how to prepare and put out cuttings, and prune rose bushes and shrubs. One very important point Mr.
Amstein put over was the beautification of the gap between the yard and the highway, known as "no man's land." Too often this gap is neglected and grown up in weeds which makes an ugly scene in the front of the house.

The next meeting will be at the bank building at Ozan, November 18. This will be the time to judge the fruit exhibits for the Ball contest. Everyone is urged to enter the contest.

Get Rid of Malaria!

Banish Chills and Fever!

To conquer Malaria, you must do two things. (1) Destroy the infection in the blood. (2) Build up the blood to overcome the effects and to fortify against further attack. There is one medicine that does these two things and that is Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic! The tasteless quinine in Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic destroys the malarial infection in the blood while the iron builds up the blood. Thousands of people have conquered Malaria with the aid of Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic. In addition to being a noted remedy for Malaria, it is also an excellent tonic of general use. Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic is pleasant to take and contains nothing harmful. Even children like it and they can take it safely. For sale

She's Tops

Young, eager, getting a great kick out of life—no wonder Jean Dunn seemed, to a certain boy from her home town, to be the One-Girl-in-the-World.

Jean is the heroine of the new serial, "The Golden Feather."
Her adventures sent federal agents scurrying, involved a desperate ring of criminals. It all started because Jean wanted to dance in a certain notorious night club . . . and because she wouldn't say "yes" to Bobby Wallace.

THE NEW DEAL IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON—Not many years ago a Morgan partner slumbered frequently at the White House. The name of the great banking firm at Broad and Wall has always been a familiar one in these parts.

Never before, however, has the House of Morgan been the subject of so many backstage whispers in an administration or involved—and annoyed—in so many fields of federal action.

"The New Deal versus Morgan" would be a plausible title, especially to those Democrats and progressives who see the firm, with its fingers in hundreds of corporations and utilities, as a bulwark of reactionary capitalism, opposed to liberal reform. Anyway, no end of people here are "talking Morgan."

One returned here to find a general craning of necks toward that "security graveyard" in New York where the Morgans were to auction off collateral carrying control of the $3,000,000,000 Van Sweringen railroad empire, following default on a $48,000,000 loan.

The collateral, consisting of control stock in a bankrupt company, presumably would be worthless to the buyers unless they could get the RFC and ICC to agree to a reorganization plan for the Missouri Pacific which would leave them in control.

There has been plenty of suppressed excitement over whether the Van Sweringens would have the seemingly essential support of Jesse Jones in their effort to retain control and whether the Vans wouldn't still be in luck to Morgan with the $48,000,000 loan largely unpaid.

Dig for Sensations

Senate munitions committee investigators are still deep in the Morgan pre-war and wartime records and act as if they would have something sensational to tell in a few weeks.

You'll be surprised to learn the extent to which personal fortunes of Morgan partners were pledged for the Allies and how important it was for them to have the Allies' win—though you won't learn that this left them to egg Washington into the conflict.

Possibly there'll be some heretofore secret history of unfriendly post-war relations between Secretary McAdoo and Morgan which will seem especially interesting when you recall that McAdoo lost the Democratic nomination in 1924 to a Morgan lawyer—a dark horse named John W. Davis.

Relations between the Morgans and the Van Sweringens and certain government officials are being uncovered by the committee under Senator Wheeler, now investigating railroad financing, which means more sensations coming up.

Can't Stop 'Em

Creation of Morgan, Stanley & Co., operated and owned by Morgan partners and fronted by a son of J. P. Morgan himself—to carry on a security investment business (from which the Morgan company itself is barred as long as it engages in banking) caused sardonic comment here. Especially among such optimistic New Dealers as had thought, after Morgan lobbyists were defeated recently in their attempt to change the law, they had ended the evil of combined commercial banking and investment banking.

It is recalled that the law prohibiting railroad mergers and consolidations, with ICC approval was neatly evaded when Wall Street lawyers told the Vans—with Morgan floating their securities and acting as their bankers—how to buy up control of railroads by purchasing stock through holding companies.

Davis Goes Into Action

Now comes John W. Davis, tops among the expensive Morgan lawyers, to challenge constitutionality of the public utilities act in the Baltimore federal court.

It may or may not be important to remember at this point that the heaviest lobbying in the last days of the holding company bill fight was done on behalf of two Morgan companies, United Gas Improvement and Commonwealth and Southern, in the hope that the new law could be made inapplicable to them—which it was.

But Mr. Davis isn't appearing officially for Morgan, U. G. I. Commonwealth and Southern, or even the Edison Electric Institute, which recently hired him.

He represents Mr. Lautenbach, a $250,000 creditor of the bankrupt American States Public Service Co., a holding company, and comes in to argue with counsel for trustees who say the law would interfere with reorganization is unconstitutional and should be thrown out.

The Morgans are interested in a many things that you'll probably never hear the last of them. They're fairly sure to appear, for instance, in the reorganization of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. by the Federal Communications Commission, and one of the food industries by the Federal Trade Commission.
